COMMUNITY: Coosaw Point

Welcome to Whitehall Point, a Lowcountry retreat in The Horseshoe enclave of Coosaw Point, where every day is meant to be savored. Here, the quiet beauty of the Coosaw River becomes the backdrop to your life, with golden light, shifting tides, and views that invite you to slow down. Inside, we've designed thoughtful spaces that flow effortlessly from morning coffee to long dinners with friends, balancing private retreats with room to gather. The first-floor primary suite offers a peaceful sanctuary, while the screened porch beckons you outdoors to feel the breeze and watch evening settle over the water. Upstairs, a spacious recreation room and covered balcony set the stage for movie nights, weekend visitors, and the kind of memories that become family tradition. Timeless Lowcountry architecture, finished with classic coastal details, gives the home a character that feels as though it has always belonged here. Just a short stroll away, the Coosaw Point Clubhouse anchors the community with a resort-style pool, fitness center, and gathering spaces made for celebrating life's moments. It's easy to imagine neighbors becoming friends over a lazy afternoon by the pool or an evening around the grill. Whitehall Point is more than a home; it's an invitation to live the Lowcountry life you've been dreaming of.
